

Barton dismissal vote on Wednesday

By JIM SCHLUETER
Charges against Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton shouldn't rush the county board into making a policy for dismissing department heads, personnel committee chairman Fred Dalton said Thursday.

"I think we should have something, but we should be careful about what we take on ourselves, especially when it's involved with somebody's livelihood," the Collinsville board member said at a personnel committee meeting.

The controversy over Barton has heated up as Wednesday's board meeting approaches.

Board Member Jack Frandsen of Alhambra, has submitted a resolution to the board calling for Barton's dismissal and State's Attorney Don Weber has repeatedly called for the supervisor of assessments' ouster.

Barton has been indicted for his role in an alleged bribery case in which officials claim landowner Bill Nichols of Nanticoke Township gave $1,000 in an attempt to influence a county zoning board decision.

The proposal discussed at the personnel committee meeting stated that a board member's call for the dismissal of a department head should be referred to the personnel committee.

Dalton says county should not rush into firing policy

Dalton agreed with that, but he did not agree with the provision making it mandatory for the committee to evaluate the case and then make a recommendation to the full board. He said the personnel committee should examine a dismissal case, but he didn't think the committee should be forced to make a recommendation.

"It makes five people (the members of the personnel committee) responsible for the dismissal of county employees," Dalton said. "There are very few times the county board doesn't follow the recommendation of a committee. This puts a lot of burden on us."

Dalton suggested an alternative under which the personnel committee would turn the matter over to the executive committee for a recommendation after hearing from the department head in question.

The executive committee, which rarely meets, is comprised of all committee chairmen and is chaired by Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer.

"As a board member, I have 1/29th of a vote in appointing somebody, but I could have 1/3rd of a vote in a dismissal," Dalton said. "And I don't want it."

The committee took no action on the proposal, although Dalton said he would meet with Hagnauer and Director of Administration Mary Kane on the matter and report back to the committee. Committee members also will be looking at a proposal for dismissing department heads that Weber submitted Thursday afternoon.

Weber called for county board action to dismiss Barton in December, but the county did nothing about the matter.

Warm welcome for 6-month-old

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Brightly-colored balloons and large signs with the message, "Welcome Home Adam," decorated the yard at 2925 Dogwood Drive Friday afternoon. Cameras clicked at a rapid pace as family members and friends took pictures of the arrival of Adam Sandor Johnisee.

It was like a belated Christmas present for Edward and Christina Johnisee as they brought their infant son home for the first time since his birth on July 10, 1982.

It was a happy trip home from Children's Hospital in St. Louis for the couple and their son. They were chauffeured by Ray Thomas in a limousine provided by the Lahey-Sedlack Funeral Home.

Young Adam was born at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, two months premature and weighed 2 pounds, 12 ounces. He suffered from hyaline membrane disease, which is an acute respiratory distress syndrome; a condition seen most often in newborn and premature children. A membranous layer covers the air sacs in the lungs with resultant difficulty in breathing.

The baby was immediately transferred to Children's Hospital and put on a respirator for about eight to nine weeks. As a result of the long time on the respirator, the infant developed bronchial pulmonary dysplasia and has, since then, been required to be on oxygen 24 hours a day, as well as taking several medications.

"Tiny, but agile, bright and alert Adam flashed big brown eyes at each person who talked to him as he looked about his new surroundings. Adam did not seem to mind the oxygen. When bored, he holds and waves the slim plastic tube which has become a part of his life.

He now weighs 8 pounds, 14 ounces, and takes only a formula of Isomil five times a day. Although most babies at his age are fed various infant foods, Adam must wait for that new adventure.

The doctors apparently are very well pleased with his recovery and will see the youngster on Jan. 26, during a regular visit at the Pre-Maternal Clinic.

Since Adam has been given therapy throughout his hospitalization, two therapists will visit the Johnisees home twice a week to continue the program, which is designed to strengthen his muscle tone and help him reach the level of accomplishment comparable to his age. According to Mrs. Johnisee, the doctors agree the baby is only about a month behind the progress of a 6-month-old.

Illinois EPA finds no signs of dioxin in Quad-City area

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Test results are due in two weeks on soil samples being tested for dioxin contamination by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) from six Metro-East sites known to have been sprayed or used for storage or waste removal purposes by the waste hauling firm headed by Russell Bliss.

Included is a horse arena in Maryville owned by grocer Bill Kozvak. Television reports erroneously said the arena was in Granite City.

Bliss also sprayed waste oil containing trichloroethylene, which can be hazardous, in Venice at the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad yard in April of 1982. The IEPA found. A state investigation of Bliss was already underway concerning that incident before the dioxin testing began elsewhere in the region.

The investigation began when an anonymous caller alerted authorities about spraying at the rail yard. The IEPA stopped the spraying, which was being done by Jay Covett, an employee of Bliss.

A complaint filed by Attorney General Tyrone Fahner with the Illinois Pollution Control Board in October after the IEPA found trichloroethylene and other toxic substances in the waste oil, was later dropped because of technical problems.

State environmental law requires that those accused of polluting receive notification before a complaint is filed, and Bliss was not notified, Mensing said. The complaint charged Bliss, Covett and the railroad with four counts of violating state environmental laws and alleging that they illegally disposed of toxic waste and contaminated the environment. Bliss was later notified and is negotiating through legal counsel with state officials as the

'GC control' of schools at stake

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Continued Granite City control of its schools is being challenged by the scope of the current financial problem, Supt. B. J. Davis said at a Board of Education meeting Saturday.

Final plans were made for tonight's 7 o'clock public hearing in the Granite City High School South auditorium. Five-minute talks will be given by citizens wishing to suggest ways to balance the schools' budget and to begin reducing its operating debt.

Finance Director Norman Owca and board members stressed that school district financial projections have been accurate, indicating that a serious income-outgo imbalance has developed. Major cutbacks in school programs in 1983-84 have been proposed.

Owca explained budget, audit, cash basis and accrual basis definitions, and said the school system currently has borrowed $1,150,000, compared to no borrowing at this time a year ago.

He commented, "This year's budget is as sound as last year's budget, when our debt was within $60,000 of our projection and estimated borrowing was within $200,000 of the projections."

Board Member Monroe Worthen, an accountant, said that if the district underestimated budget expenditures, as some have urged it to do, "we might have to close schools in mid-March" each year. "We have no authority to spend money beyond the budget," he said in supporting present budgeting procedures.

Secretary George Moore said employees' financial analysis disagreeing with Owca's estimates apparently failed to take into account incremental

'Shang' rejects 'tyrant's' plea offer

"You think I'm crazy? I'd look guilty as heck. No way."

This was the comment of Walter "Shang" Greathouse at the Press-Record Friday afternoon as he announced he was rejecting a plea bargain offered by Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber.

Weber has said he will ask grand jurors this week to indict Greathouse, who is the Metro-East Sanitary District president and a member of the County Zoning Appeals Board.

The case involves $1,000 given by William Nichols to James Barton, who gave $500 of it to Greathouse, who then returned the money to Barton. The latter contributed the $1,000 to various political campaigns.

Strong criticism of Weber was voiced by Greathouse, who accused the prosecutor of being a "tyrant" who has been "torturing" Greathouse and his family.

Weber responded that he has been expecting personal criticism from targets of the investigation. He said a national seminar once emphasized that, when officials are charged, they usually try to make the prosecutor "the bad guy."

The sanitary district official said the offer of limited prosecution was relayed to him by his attorney, Bruce Cook of Belleville.

Greathouse commented, "I reject the 'deal' he (Weber) has offered me."

"Weber, after having assassinated my character, tells my attorney that if I agree to resign my position on the levee board and plead guilty to a misdemeanor that he will see I don't go to jail."

"To set the record straight, I want you to know I have voluntarily cooperated with the police in every instance concerning this investigation."

"I have given them statements. I have voluntarily testified before the grand jury, and I have taken two lie detector tests."

"Weber informed the papers and County Board that I had failed one test—something that surprises me, since neither I nor my attorney has seen the test results although we have requested them."

"Weber neglected to tell anybody that I also had passed a lie detector test, and the most important fact that establishes my innocence of the charges against me: I voted against the

Parents heard prior to school hearing tonight

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Setting the stage for tonight's public hearing on school consolidations, elementary school parents defended existing schools and services in an emotion-charged meeting last night. More than 400 attended.

Disturbed at some of the comments and misinformation, Supt. B. J. Davis briefly went to the microphone near the close of the two-hour meeting and said he had helped establish some of the buildings and programs whose future now is in doubt.

Davis promised that the district will continue to provide a sound basic education but added that "we don't have the money" to continue some of the services the public desires.

School Treasurer Dewey Melton told the gathering the School Board's options are not as easy as "whether to close a high school or a grade school." He indicated that many of the 12 potential cost reductions will have to be implemented for the school system to end a $5 million budget imbalance and begin reducing $7,700,000 in operating debt.

Melton said the possible cutbacks are as painful to school officials and staffs as they are to the general public.

Parents stressed the importance of neighborhood schools and of such pro-

Ask $23 million from Brimberry

The sum of $23,477,990 is being sought from Thomas Brimberry, former Granite City who is the central figure in the Stix & Co. stock brokerage collapse.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert E. Brauer recommended Friday that the St. Louis federal district court enter a judgment against Brimberry and in favor of Harry O. Moine, court-appointed Stix trustee.

How much of the total may be available is uncertain. Brauer recommended that all of Brimberry's assets, including his $480,000 home near Phoenix, Ariz., be put into a trust for investors and creditors who lost money in the looting of Stix accounts and for the Securities Investor Protection Corp. The SIPC paid $14 million to holders of stock accounts.

Although the Arizona home is owned outright by Brimberry, his other properties are encumbered by liens and mortgages. Brauer mentioned a

Baker is national coach of the year

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

(Related to today's Sports section.)

Gene Baker, Granite City South's soccer coach, has been named High School Coach of the Year by National Soccer Coaches Association of America. The announcement was made Saturday evening at the association's 36th Annual Honor Awards Banquet in Orlando, Fla.

Baker, in his tenth year as Warrior coach, directed his team to a sixth Illinois state soccer championship in November. The championship Warriors finished the season 30-2.

Saturday's trip to Orlando was Baker's third to the National Soccer Convention. On two other occasions Baker attended the trip only to finish behind two other coaches both of which were named from Connecticut.

Baker began his coaching soccer career at Granite City South in 1972 when Granite City High School split campuses.

During his tenure as the Warrior headman, Baker has seen Granite City South rise to six championships: five consecutive championships from 1975 to 1980 and the another in 1982.

Along the way Baker and his athletes have picked up numerous awards.

In all, he has been named Illinois High School Coach of the Year on two occasions (1976 and 1982) and most recently NSCAA Coach of the Year.

Six athletes under Baker's tutelage have risen to national acclaim, receiving All-American honors.

Baker, 39, is a graduate 1961 graduate of CBC High School in St. Louis and a 1965 graduate of St. Louis University.

He has three children: Gene, a freshman at McCluer North in St. Louis, Brigit, also a freshman at McCluer North and Barrett, a student at Cross-Keys Junior High.

Expand water pump capacity

A major renovation has taken place at the Granite City Water Plant located at 23rd Street and Logan Avenue. Three new pumps with capacities of 4,200 gallons per minute, 3,500 and 2,800 gallons per minute have been installed to replace existing pumping units which over many years of use had reached the point that they no longer were reliable.

The Granite City Water Treatment and Pumping Station delivers on the average 10 million gallons of water each day to the cities of Granite City, Madison and Venice, unincorporated areas of Nameoki and Venice townships, the Mitchell Water District and the Pontoon Beach Water District.

Robert L. Jackson, manager of the Granite City District of the Illinois-American Water Co., said today the decision to replace the pumping units at a cost of $175,000 was influenced not only by the fact that the old pumps were wearing out, but also a desire to provide adequate pumping capacity for the immediate future.

Plant records indicate that the maximum pumpage from this station reached 13.7 million gallons in a 24-hour period with all three pumps in operation. If one of the pumps had failed, a 3.7 million gallon per day deficit would have occurred.

"In other words, if more water is used by our customers than we can pump, we would soon run out of water," Jackson said.

"With the installation of the three new pumps, in addition to one existing pump that requires no replacement, this station will have a total pumping capacity of 20 million gallons per day.

Even with the largest pump out of service, pumpage of 14 million gallons per day is possible.

"Projections made by an engineering study in the year 1962 indicated that by the year 1985, the maximum day pumpage demand will reach 16.2 million gallons.

"Looking farther into the future, by the year 2010, it is projected this station will require facilities capable of pumping 24 million gallons per day. Obviously, before that time comes, it must be made in order to supply our customers with adequate service.

"By the end of 1983, the engineering study recommends installation of a three-million gallon per day clarifier, modifications of existing settling basins, and replacement of filter media at an estimated cost of $2,765,000, all in order to have the reliability to properly settle and treat the raw river water which is our total source of supply."

By 1985, an additional 548,000 gallons clear water well is recommended at a cost of $50,000 (all the cost estimates are in 1981 dollars).

By 1987, a new six million gal. per day effluent solids contact clarifier at a cost of $975,000 is recommended.

By 1990, another six million gal. per day pump is recommended ($83,000), and by 2005 construction of two new filters ($825,000) would complete the recommendations of the current study.

In addition to the new pumps installed in 1982, several other capital improvements were completed, Jackson said.

The Chouteau Island Pumping Station was outfitted with a new set of traveling screens at a cost of $16,500. Leaves, twigs and other debris are screened and prevented from entering the pumps by use of the screens.

The old screens, installed when the Chouteau Island station was built in the 1920s, had finally worn beyond any economical repair. Also, a 25 million gallons per day pump at this river station was replaced at a cost of $37,100.

Another 4,234 feet of 12-inch water main was installed at a cost of $69,000. This is the first phase of a three-year project totaling $357,000 to install 11,400 feet of 12-inch main in 23rd Street from Monroe Street to Eduardo Drive and Route 162. The purpose of this main is to eliminate poor pressure and provide reliability to a large area that is presently being served by a single 8-inch main.

On Eagle Park Road, 2,588 feet of 12-inch main was installed at a cost of $42,000. This extension had long been sought by the residents and was aided by a deposit of $20,000 from community development funds directed through Nameoki Township.

Jackman continued, "At the direction of city councils and other governing bodies, nine new public fire hydrants were installed in 1982 at a cost of $17,500."

"Under regulations of the Illinois Commerce Commission, a municipality has authority to install hydrants on existing water mains within city limits. Cost of the hydrant installation is at the expense of the water company."

"The municipality then pays to the company an annual rental fee of $40.00 per year for each hydrant installed. This rental rate has been unchanged in many years, even though the rate of inflation has increased in nearly every other area."

"The ICC recently recommended these public fire protection rates be increased by 32 percent. Currently, there are 26 public fire districts in the service area of the Illinois-American Water Company including the Granite City, East St. Louis and Belleville districts."

Sixteen obsolete fire hydrants were replaced in the various municipalities served at a cost of $20,640.

Many of the older hydrants in the system have been out of production for years, and when something breaks in the hydrant, it is not possible to obtain repair parts. Therefore, we replace the hydrant with a current model."

Another 1,055 feet of 8-inch main was installed at a cost of $27,900. This was done in order to provide mains of adequate size for the installation of fire hydrants.

An additional 950 feet of 8-inch main was installed for developers of new homes at a cost of $14,100. These installations were aided by deposits of the entire amount by the developer.

Under deposit-refund agreements, if the subdivision fills up according to the investors' expectations, most or all of the deposit is refunded to the developer.

"The depressed housing market and housing starts have reduced this area of expansion and subsequent water sales to new customers," Jackson told the Press-Record.

"Also affecting our revenue from water sales is the current state of industrial usage."

"With some plants in the local area nearly shut down and others cutting back in production, we note a marked decrease in the amount of water sales in this classification, which makes up a large percentage of our total water sales."

"This condition, we feel, will improve as the economy strengthens and as orders for goods and materials pick up."

"As to the year 1983, it is our intention to continue meeting with officials of fire departments, street departments, fire districts and townships in order to be aware of their particular needs."

"We will investigate ways and means to improve and upgrade service in the various areas of the community in which Illinois-American Water Company provides water service."

The Belleville Area College English and math placement exam will be offered at the BAC Granite City night extension Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 18 and 19.

The test will be administered at 5 p.m. in room 23 at Granite City High School South.

The test may be taken by anyone planning on enrolling for the first time in an English or math course at BAC. The test is for advisement and placement. There is no "passing" or "failing" of the exam.

There is no charge for the tests, which take approximately three hours. The math test, which is given first, lasts about an hour. The two-hour English test follows.

EOC bumbling cheese giveaway

"Why does it take an entire team of investigative reporters to get the story every time free cheese is given out?" one of our reporters asked Friday after meeting obstacle after obstacle in trying to get the details for this, the government's latest great cheese giveaway.

It's a good question and the answer seems to be that the Madison County Economic Opportunities Commission (EOC) can't get its act together.

Word reached us at 3 p.m. Friday that all Quad-City township officials would begin issuing eligibility cards to township residents Tuesday and would accept the completed cards through Friday.

Knowing that Granite City Township has refused in the past to participate in the cheese program, we contacted the EOC to clarify the issue. A secretary there said she was told that all townships but Alton were issuing the cards at their township halls. She said Jimmy Wilson, head of the cheese program, was in Alton Friday and would be in at a today.

Contacting Granite City Township, we confirmed that the cards are not being given out there, but at the EOC office in Old Logan School. This morning, after eight telephone calls, that was found erroneous. The EOC said the Salvation Army gave Granite City Township's cheese away here earlier this month.

Attempting to confirm the times with the other townships met an obstacle. It was the holiday honoring

Dr. Martin Luther King and the Venice Township office was closed.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor, said he went to the EOC office in Edwardsville to get the cards for his township and found the office had moved. After searching, he finally was able to get the cards.

He said the EOC pledged at the meeting setting up this cheese program that the townships would have at least a week to confirm the eligibility of the hundreds of applicants. Instead, the period for filling the cards ends at 4 p.m. Friday, Jan. 21, and the cheese is to be given out Monday morning, Jan. 24. Since the township office is closed during the weekend, there is no working time to check the eligibility, he noted.

Proof of income, such as a current unemployment benefit card, will not prove that a spouse is not working. We expect there will be abuses of the income limits.

There are problems every time there is a cheese giveaway. Lists sent to the papers are late, incomplete and inaccurate. We feel it is time to re-evaluate whether the EOC should be the agency coordinating this program. Granite City Township also should shoulder its responsibility and join with the other townships in serving its needy citizens through this program.

the arrival of their annual comic book

A member of the Press-Record editorial staff interviewed Quad-Cityans and asked their reactions to the return of income tax time. Their responses follow:

Milan Babic, Granite City:

"I feel like the IRS knocks me down, beats me up, puts me in the hospital, and then sees me for the bill."

Kay Quante, Granite City:

"Well, I don't mind paying taxes, but I wish it was distributed a little more equally instead of the middle class working people carrying most of the burden."

Bill Hurocy, Granite City:

"I don't really mind, as long as I don't have to pay back as much money later. I don't like when you pay in a lot during the year and then you end up having to pay more because they (the IRS) say you didn't pay in enough. That's happened to me."

Michelle Weis, Granite City:

"I've always gotten a refund. I feel like paying taxes is a necessary evil because most everybody has to pay them."

Consumers need way to hire utility experts

To the Editor:

Our governor, who after his razor-thin victory should be called "Slim Jim" instead of "Big Jim," has recognized that election of the Illinois Commerce Commission is an issue that has moved to center stage.

His appointment of his campaign manager as chairman of the ICC means that Philip O'Connor will do more than set utility rates. He will lead the campaign to retain the governor's appointive powers and stop an elected ICC.

How much campaign money, raised by the then campaign manager, now ICC chairman O'Connor, did the utilities contribute to Governor Thompson's well-financed campaign?

The answer to that question, which I have not yet seen reported in the press, would add an interesting footnote to the story of this appointment.

The authority to set utility rates is the authority to affect everyone's pocketbook. It is a power the governor wants to hold onto through his appointed officials.

But whether the members are appointed or elected, the law still required utilities to justify their rate increases in an adversary hearing before the Commerce Commission.

Utilities must give reasons, present facts, make economic arguments, present experts in accounting, engineering and economics, and convince either an elected or an appointed ICC to grant rate increases.

The utilities use revenues from their consumers to hire their experts and prepare their cases.

If we had a Citizens Utility Board (CUB) in Illinois, like the one now operating in Wisconsin, consumers would be able to make small, voluntary contributions of $3 or more annually and elect their own board to prepare and present consumers' viewpoints on utility rate increases.

Consumers would have attorneys, economists, engineers and other experts to disagree with the utilities and argue their case in the adversary proceeding before the ICC.

With CUB, consumers could even the scales of the decision-making process. CUB will be an important statewide political issue this year. Voters in Chicago urged their legislators to approve it by a 4-1 margin in a November 1982 advisory referendum.

Voters in Cicero, Streamwood, Glendale Heights, Rosemont, Batavia, Homewood and Niles will be voting on CUB in the "municipal elections."

Lincoln, Galesburg, Canton, Peoria Heights, Fairview Heights and Belleville are considering placing this issue before voters.

As the voters speak on this important utility rate issue, the viewpoint of consumers will be strengthened. We will start toward a fairer way to set utility rates in Illinois.

Purchases may put steel workers out of jobs

To the Editor:

I am told that The United Steel Workers of America have a fleet of new cars on order from General Motors for their many staff men to drive.

Seems very interesting. Will the cars be made of American steel or will they be made of Japanese steel? We have heard before that General Motors has said to big steel, and the union is pressured to go along with, sign a contract by March 1, 1983, or we will order steel from Japan.

It will be very interesting to watch what type of equipment the steel mills purchase. What will the steel worker purchase? You have to keep in mind, what will the steel worker be able to do with the money? Will they buy the goods and materials necessary to keep the rest of the people working and being productive citizens?

The rumor was out that National Steel was going to build a new aluminum plant in Germany. Why not Granite City?

It seems very unfair and unwise to keep building up the two countries that we so desperately struggled to defeat back in World War II. The American people are ready, willing and available to get America back to work. We need leadership, someone must find the key.

In order for America to be strong and free, America must get back to work.

The American people are ready, willing and available to get America back to work. We need leadership, someone must find the key.

(Editor's note: National Aluminum, a division of National Steel Corp. is building a modern aluminum rolling facility in Luxembourg, Germany, a spokesman in Pittsburgh said.)

(He said that because of duties and the nature of the business, it would be impractical to put the plant in Granite City or elsewhere in the U.S. If the market grows, we have the corporation's modern Republic Foil aluminum rolling plant in North Carolina would be expanded.)

(He explained that foil wrapping products are a "low inventory, quick delivery business" and the plant must be located close to the potential European customers.)

(He also said that the German plant will be profitable and should add to the overall economy and stability of National Steel Corp.)

10th anniversary of legal abortion decision is Jan. 22

To the Editor:

Jan. 22, 1983, is the 10th anniversary of the 1973 United States Supreme Court decision to legalize abortion in this country. Anniversaries should be celebrations. This one is not.

There are 1.5 million abortions performed every year in this country. That is 1.5 million potential lives destroyed.

Unfortunately some have come to accept this as a way of life. Some say, "It is my right." Who gave them that right? God is the creator and preserver of all life, not we humans.

If we, as a country, wish to continue to receive the blessings of the Almighty God, we must repent of this terrible sin. Only then will America once more be "One Nation Under God."

Keep school ideas constructive

Emotions have run high at two meetings called by parents, and may escalate even more as school cut-back decisions are made. But the anger is misdirected if, as some indicated last night, people blame board members and administrators for conspiracies and selfishness.

A bit emotional himself, Supt. B. J. Davis pointed out that he helped establish many of the buildings and programs now in jeopardy. He is not proposing reductions because the programs are bad, but because "we don't have the money."

The superintendent sees it as a compliment that citizens are vocally defending various services that have been introduced here, some of them innovative approaches to the tasks of teaching, basic knowledge and equipping young people for adult life.

As one speaker said to frustrated elementary parents interested in maintaining neighborhood schools, he is hopeful they not only were vocal last night but also supported the 1980 school referendum and would help pass any future school financing proposals.

Many seeking to perpetuate educational programs obviously have not been as active in backing measures to pay for them. But they are not villains. Life is difficult in the early 1980s, and many are hard-pressed to feed and house their families. It is understandable that they are not urging tax increases.

Another speaker said officials were "stupid" if they borrowed against future taxes to a degree they do not know how to repay. But the depth of the current recession was not fully predictable a year and a half ago. When current school employee pacts were negotiated. And the public pressured the board to get the schools open, not quibble about "fine print" and costs in the agreements that were being bargained.

If there are culprits, they include the faltering economy and planners' lack of a clear "crystal ball." Various actions now being questioned "seemed like a good idea at the time," when this community and nation were enjoying prosperity and growth.

Granite City schools are being utilized to only 50 percent of their capacity, but family patterns of a few years ago showed that thousands of youngsters would be here now who, as it turned out, were not born in the 1970s.

Who is at fault for the school problem? Everybody and nobody. The point that ought to be pursued at tonight's public hearing is how best to balance the $5 million annual budget imbalance and begin retiring the projected $7.700 million operating debt. Constructive ideas are what is needed.

North fosters individual growth, attainment

To the Editor:

I have recently been informed of the possible closing of Granite City High School North.

Being a 1978 graduate of North High School, I believe this is the finest institution I have ever attended.

Not only is this institution academically one of the finest in the state, but the faculty is among the best in its field.

While attending Granite City North, I became an eight-time state qualifier, and gained all-state honors in 1978 in cross-country.

Upon graduation from North High, I enrolled at Illinois State University, where I also competed for four years in both cross-country and track.

In 1981 and 1982, I was fortunate enough to gain all-American honors in track. In May of 1983, I will receive a bachelor degree in industrial technology from Illinois State University.

I honestly believe that the above honors would not have been possible if it weren't for the ability of the faculty to direct and educate the lives of the students involved.

I also feel that because of the smaller size of North

High, it gave me ample opportunity for individual growth. I hope that is a major factor in accomplishing individual life goals.

For those individuals involved, I hope that we can come to other alternatives than closing one of the finest high schools this state has ever had.

Favors raising sentences for DUI killings

To the Editor:

I have been reading the Press-Record about DUIs, and I agree very much with what is said about raising the sentences for DUIs causing reckless homicides.

This is what happened to me because of a DUI. On Nov. 19, 1978, I was driving another person's car and drinking while driving on Highway 162, at night. He swerved into my lane and I tried to avoid him, but I could not. His car rammed into mine.

My mother and I were in the car, my mother, Faye A. Lee, was killed instantly and I was almost crippled. I still have a back injury, a bad heart and a scar on my head and a scar to carry forever because of him.

The drunken driver gets off almost scot free. They finally got him to court two years later. They sentenced him to three years in prison with mandatory release two or three months later. He privately appealed without us knowing it, and got off on just probation.

To this day, he is still wandering around. I wonder who his next victim will be. Maybe then they will make him pay for what he has done.

My 11 brothers and sisters and I still hate to even think about him after thus running and never paying for what he did.

Faye A. Lee is sadly missed by her children. I wonder how he would have felt if he was one of his family who was killed by a DUI.

This is why I am all for raising the sentences for reckless homicides caused by DUIs.

No sign of dioxin in area

Investigation continues.

There have been no reports of ill health caused by the presence of trichloroethylene in the rail yard and Kenworth Menzies, regional manager of land pollution control for the IEPA said its removal is, therefore, unlikely.

The material poses no imminent threat to those in the area, Menzies said.

Trichloroethylene, which is most commonly used by industry as a solvent, "is not generally too toxic," according to Stephen K. Hall, an industrial toxicologist, hazardous chemical expert and professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He said the toxicity of trichloroethylene is not comparable to dioxin. Trichloroethylene can cause liver problems in humans after exposure in high concentrations for several years, but such instances are rare, Hall indicated.

While trichloroethylene toxicity is hazardous to humans in concentrations greater than 100 parts per million, dioxin is hazardous at one part per million, he said.

Dioxins are a family of 68 chemical compounds produced as unwanted byproducts of numerous chemical manufacturing processes including the production of herbicides. Dioxins are chemically classified as chlorinated hydrocarbons and take years to break down in soil.

Trichloroethylene usually disappears through a vaporization process, Hall said and added that he is curious as to how the substance got into the waste oil.

Authorities speculate it was inadvertently added to the oil by a gasoline station employee before being used by Bliss, who has repeatedly said he had no idea the waste oil he used was contaminated.

The dioxin problem also started inadvertently when residual wastes from a defunct chemical plant in Verona, Mo. were mixed with waste oil that eventually was sprayed on riding rings at horse farms to reduce dust. Contaminated soil from the rings was later removed and used as fill in some residential areas like Times Beach.

Bliss also sprayed some industrial locations in Missouri and the Metro-East area.

Of the six sites being tested in the Metro-East, Mensing said, there were similarities between three where "Bliss actually did apply material on the ground, where he sprayed oil matter."

Four storage tanks used by Bliss were located in Sauget and "he did remove waste material out of Wood River," Mensing added. Sites were also tested in Belleville and Columbia.

Kozak told the Press-Record that Bliss sprayed his Maryville horse arena between 1969 and 1976, but "we've never had any problems with animals, birds or horses," he said and added that Bliss sprayed most areas in the area.

Reports of illness and death of animals at arenas have been reported in Missouri.

With public concern increasing as more contaminated sites are discerned and tested, a dioxin colloquium was organized by Arthur C. Zahalsky, professor of biological sciences at SIUE. The session will be Jan. 21 at 4 p.m. in the Science Building auditorium and is free and open to the public.

Hall and Zahalsky will both speak at the colloquium, which will include discussion on the origin of dioxin, its effects on mankind and animals, disposal methods, precautionary measures, and analysis of samples tested for dioxin.

Zahalsky said that one dioxin compound, 2,3,7,8-TCDD, is the fourth most toxic compound known to man, listed behind botulinum toxin A (which causes botulism), tetanus toxin and diphtheria toxin. The list of the 12 most toxic dioxin compounds ends with sodium cyanide and Zahalsky said that "just for argument's sake, compared with sodium cyanide (TCDD) is about 100,000 times more potent per unit."

However, some dioxins "are not toxic at all," he added. Zahalsky said "there are reasons to be very much concerned" with dioxin contamination in the area, but added that the situation had not reached disastrous proportions, in his opinion.

It has been reported that the effects of dioxin are disputed, but Zahalsky agreed and said that government documents produced by the Environmental Protection Agency show that there is no dispute and that the effects are clearly known.

Certain dioxins have proven to cause cancer, birth defects and liver damage in laboratory animals.

Investment course at BAC

Fundamentals of Investing, a class to be offered at Belleville Area College for the first time this spring, will focus on the individual investor.

It will be for the person just beginning to invest and for those with large sums of money, according to instructor Rick Martini.

"There are many different types of investment vehicles now," Martini said. "This course is for people who are confused about new types of investments. It is a very basic course that will explain in simple terms a person's investment possibilities."

Different investments will be identified along with their use, risk, return characteristics and how they fit into an investment portfolio.

Stocks and bonds, stock options, gold and silver, real estate, commodities and financial futures are examples of investments that will be covered. Real estate and high-interest bank accounts will also be discussed.

Martini, who has been a licensed stockbroker for the past six years, works for R. Rowland and Co. in Belleville. For the class he will be able to draw on personal expertise and specific cases and situations.

The three-credit class will meet from 7 to 8:45 p.m. Monday for 16 weeks, beginning Jan. 24.

Registration is from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday in the Registrar's Office, room 2306, at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Registration ends Wednesday, Jan. 19. For more information, those interested are advised to call Don Kassig, coordinator of BAC's management and marketing management programs, 235-2700, extension 306.

U.S. investigator here studies charges GC is ignoring needs of the handicapped

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A federal investigator with the U.S. Department of Treasury measured and inspected Granite City buildings last week for handicapped accessibility in answer to a complaint filed by a wheelchair-bound resident.

Deborah Williamson, a civil rights investigator representing the Treasury's Office of Revenue Sharing, interviewed complainant Glenn Bettorf last Tuesday evening in preparation for the city survey taken the following day. On her agenda were the Granite City Hall, Street Department and the Granite City Public Library. She was accompanied by City Attorney John Papa.

Also marked for inspection were remodeled streets that Bettorf claims were constructed without curb cuts for wheelchairs, despite his request for city officials to correct the situation.

Bettorf, an accident victim dependent on a wheelchair since 1954, originally filed the complaint in 1981 with the Treasury Department, which holds the purse strings on about $820,000 in annual federal revenue-sharing funds received here. He charged the city has violated federal civil rights Rehabilitation Act of 1973, that states handicapped individuals should not be deprived benefits from federally-financed programs.

In the small quarters of the investigator's room at a local motel, Bettorf produced worn newspaper clippings and a file of his written correspondence in his personal war on barriers to the handicapped. He is a member of the state's Region One Consumer Advisory Council and two area groups, Rights of the Handicapped and the Mississippi Valley Handicapped Club.

Not a polished speaker, though, he fears a polished speech may have been made clear to the investigator based in Washington, D.C. "I'm under the impression I blew it at some other time, but it wasn't spelled out in detail enough," he worried. "My impression was everything had to be precisely done."

In retrospect, Bettorf thinks an attorney might have better prepared him for bureaucratic procedures. When he discussed alleged barriers to other buildings and within the Granite City Park District, he was informed he would have to file a separate complaint for any topic not contained in his initial letter.

Miss Williamson has investigated several complaints on handicapped accessibility elsewhere for the Treasury Department. Bettorf's year-long wait for a field investigator to check his claims of city neglect are not unusual "due to limited staff," according to Miss Williamson.

Federal policy is to explore all claims made, she said, and the fact that she came to Granite City to check conditions here does not necessarily lend any merit to the complaint itself. "If we get a complaint, we come out and investigate it," she said simply.

Her evaluation will be sent through the time-consuming federal lines of authority before the city can either drop due to lack of merit or continued in the form of federal "recommendations" to the city.

If a letter is sent and is ignored by city officials, it would likely be followed by a second more demanding letter. "They can come into voluntary compliance," she said. "If not, a second letter, perhaps giving the city additional time to comply, would be sent, but that letter would mention 'revenue-sharing funds can be dismissed,' she warned.

She did not estimate how long it will be before the city is notified of the initial decision of the Treasury Department, but indicated it is possible an answer might be sent within the next few months.

Ranking among Bettorf's problems are stairs facing him outside the doors of both the Granite City Hall and Granite City Public Library. When Miss Williamson asked him if he had access to city offices, Bettorf replied, "Not unless you get a wheelchair that can jump stairs."

Not a jump into the city hall basement to visit the office of Tax Assessor Von Dee Cruse, but finds his path blocked to offices of the city clerk, city treasurer, sewage and ambulance billing divisions, small claims court and local circuit court rooms, and to the office of Mayor Paul Schuler.

"We'd really like to make the city hall accessible," commented the mayor, "but the alternative to spending thousands of dollars was to move the city council meetings from the city hall." The aldermen now hold their meetings at the more accessible Granite City Township Building.

Schuler added, "We'll keep trying."

Caution issued on heat saving device

City Engineer Monroe Brewer is investigating a flyer distributed in the Quad-City Area advertising an "energy saver" that he said is potentially hazardous.

The device promises to prevent furnace heat from escaping and to return fresh air to the heating system. The device also allows no escape for carbon monoxide that naturally builds as a result of normal furnace functions, Brewer said.

Brewer compared the plugging up of all furnace discharge to prevent heat escape to a motorist changing car exhaust back into a car for warmth. Although the accumulation of carbon monoxide would be quicker in the vehicle, the results could eventually be the same, Brewer explained.

The city engineer was alerted to the problem by Illinois Power Co. employees who found one of the flyers and became concerned. Brewer discovered one of the devices installed at a Granite City location and had advised the owners to discontinue its use.

The engineer would not disclose at this time the names of those involved in selling the device, but believes two local youths, unaware of the consequences of the device, have been offering the device for sale through the mail. However, the "energy saver" scheme appears the invention of others outside the area.

TAX COURSE FOR VOLUNTEERS AIDED

A refresher course for tax counseling for the elderly began today and will continue through Thursday in Granite City, according to an announcement by Mrs. Elina M. Hoover, district coordinator for the program.

The counselors will start Feb. 1 assisting any older citizen who need help with income tax return either federal or state. Dates and locations will be announced later in the month.

Volunteers who have not enrolled in the program are advised to contact Mrs. Hoover at 878-0606 for further information.

O. At long last, there seems to be a turn-around in the nation's economy. I would like to ask — what hurdles, if any, you feel are still ahead.

A. There have been some extremely positive signs in the economy lately. These include, of course, the decline in the prime lending rate charged by the nations leading financial institutions, lower monthly increases in the Consumer Price Index and a slowdown in increases in wholesale prices. All of these suggest slowing the rate of inflation. We could also include record high stocks of fuel reserves as well as basically a bullish stock market. But, there are still some problems on the horizon. The most obvious are continued recession and unemployment. No one knows how long these may become. No one can foretell whether the government will be able to maintain its budget-cutting pledge in the face of mounting political opposition. But, the signs are hopeful. By the way, we view your question as an effort to stay informed — and that's something we try to help with, as much as possible.

WOMEN GRAB 15 BLOUSES AT STORE

Two women entered the front door at Leader's Department Store, 19th and State Streets, and grabbed about 15 blouses, valued between $10 and $15 each, from a rack and fled from the store last week.

An employee and a customer obtained a license number from a vehicle the women were believed to have entered.

A 29-year-old woman, whose vehicle was parked outside the Venice Liquor Store on Broadway, was questioned by Venice police officers later the same day. There were no garments from Leader's in the car at the time, officers said.

grams as learning centers, music and physical education. They said secondary schools cannot be effective unless elementary schools first provide pupils with competent fundamental instruction.

The meeting will be edited to 30 minutes and televised on Southwest TV Cable 1's Coffee Break with Gregg McGee at 6 p.m. Wednesday, 10:30 a.m. Friday and 6 p.m. Friday.

John Mefford of the Emerson PTA presided and answered questions during the second hour of the meeting after a series of talks was heard. He said grade schools are being listed for an excessive portion of the overall cost cuts. Among those present were Melton, Robert Maxwell and David Partney of the School Board and Aldermen Warren Decatur, Jake Yarbadian, Carl Kittel, Everett Morlen, Walter Milton and Casmer Skubish. Members of the audience repeatedly asked, "Where is the mayor?"

Carrie Embick stressed the value of small class sizes, Robert Braundmeier cited problems associated with overcrowding of Logan School, Jeanne Vinne said all-day kindergartens would be ineffective and Nancy Graf described the many services provided by school nurses.

Bruce Crittenden proposed closing North High and selling it for $4 million, a figure he said he obtained from an unnamed school administrator. Kathy Daurer of the Granite City Council for Gifted Children outlined the use of elementary learning centers to benefit regular, handicapped and gifted pupils. She said failure to sufficiently challenge young gifted children can harm their later learning and their entire lives.

Karen Jones spoke for Nameoki School, saying that the number of grade schools operated will affect the quality of instruction.

Donald Gargac represented Lake School parents, asserting that elementary schools should not be hobbled in ways that the school district is considering. He referred to some of the borrowing decisions as "stupidity."

Nancy Mirdink spoke for Niedringhaus School and urged fairness in cost decisions. Eric Robertson of the district's Citizen Advisory Committee said the CAC is urging that revenue be increased, that buildings be closed rather than programs halted, and that the state be asked to provide more dependable funding.

Many of those present spoke forcefully against assigning seventh and eighth grade students to elementary schools. That idea is not one of those listed by the board; it was voiced at a meeting of North High parents.

Brett Hankey proposed closing North, Grigsby, Johnson, Frohardt and Lake schools. He suggested assigning North students to South; Grigsby to Coolidge; Johnson to Maryville and Nameoki; Frohardt to Parkview and Niedringhaus; and Lake to Wilson and Webster schools. He advocated selling one or more buildings and applying the proceeds to school district debt.

Some in the audience warned that elimination of elementary athletics and bands would cripple future secondary sports and music.

Board members were reminded that "an election is coming up." Some parents said teachers ought to accept lower pay.

Others wanted non-salaried board members' pay reduced. Administrative staffs were called excessively large.

One parent complained that North High is air-conditioned and has seven television antennas on its roof. Another said he was shocked to learn that the school system employs "a $20,000 custodial coordinator."

Whether child discipline can best be handled in the home or school also was debated.

Several parents said that if nearby public grade schools are closed, they will seek to enroll their children in parochial schools. Many opposed any increase in busing of pupils.

Ask $23 million

palatial Granite City home worth possibly $2 million, a jet boat at Lake of the Ozarks and parcels of property in past central Illinois.

Brimberry contends that he was such a well-known gambler in Las Vegas and elsewhere that he received massive credit. The government argues that illicit funds were used and that, in any case, Brimberry cannot claim that gambling losses were suffered by Stix while any winnings were his own.

Moline conceded that theft allegations total only $16 million but said the bankruptcy case cannot be compared to the current criminal cases against six persons. One has pleaded guilty. The trustee added that the brokerage and others were damaged more than the actual amounts removed from Stix accounts.

Meanwhile, the case of Leonard Bednar, a Stix vice-president, is resuming today for closing arguments. He testified Friday, denying that he lied to a grand jury, that he intentionally falsified records, or that he profited.

Bednar said he and Brimberry rented a safety deposit box at Boutin's Bank for a sealed folder that Brimberry said contained securities. Instead, it had old copies of the Wall Street Journal, investigators found.

Brauer said Friday that the scheme was "relatively simple."

He said Brimberry would enter non-existent stock and bond purchases in a computer terminal and, prior to an audit, prepare phony certificates that were deposited until the audit was completed.

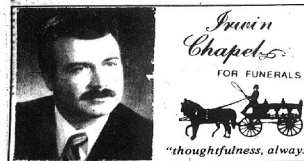

Brauer alleged that eight key accounts were controlled by Brimberry and that Brimberry manipulated two other accounts with the consent of James Massa, a Collinsville lawyer who was chairman of Stix & Co.

According to Jimmy Wilson, Madison County EOC coordinator for the cheese program, Granite City's allocation was distributed last week through the Salvation Army here.

Applicants in Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice will fill out cards verifying their residence and income for the last 90 days. Proof of income comes in the form of a check for $1,373 for a single person, $1,783 for a couple, $2,187 for three persons in a family, $2,608 for four persons, $2,956 for five and $3,231 for six people in the last 90 days must be shown. Proof of income could include Public Aid, Social Security, food stamps, unemployment benefit stubs, employment check stubs or having an unemployment card dated in January to automatically qualify for free cheese.

Hours for obtaining cards or signing up at the Chouteau Township Hall, starting Tuesday, are from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. Venice Township residents may pick up cards at the township office from 9 a.m. until noon, Tuesday through Friday. The Nameoki Township office will have cards available for township residents starting at 9 a.m. through 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Venice and Madison residents also may apply at the Dunbar School EOC Center from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

salary raises, gained through increased experience, and lateral movements on the salary schedule, attained through increased educational credits.

Owca outlined a pattern of recent state aid reductions and Treasurer Dewey Melton cited as a new example a state corporate personal property replacement tax payment in January of $9,000 less than projected.

President Donald Stucke noted that the schools will be affected by last week's Illinois Commerce Commission approval of utility rate hikes averaging 10.3 percent for electricity and 7.2 percent for natural gas. He added that the U.S. is considering authorizing a further increase in gas charges.

It was noted that part of the district's negotiating team met Jan. 10 with part of the negotiating committee of Teachers' Local 74.

Supt. Davis said after Saturday's board meeting and an executive session on personnel that the district expects a slight enrollment increase at grade schools by 1985 but no upturn in the number of high school students through 1990.

He said the present facility of 583 would be substantially reduced in size under some of the proposals under consideration by the board, who may make its decision on cutbacks at the Feb. 1 board session.

The superintendent added that the district will be cautious about elimination of facilities because of its potential for further population growth. The 52 square miles extend to the Hartford canal, he pointed out.

In his comments explaining why the drastic program cuts are being studied, Davis said:

"Inflation and hard times have caught up with the school district the same as everyone else. Over the past five or six years, income of the district has decreased just as the wages and business income of people in the district have decreased.

"When a business lays off people and ceases operation, the school district gets less tax money. In the past years, major employers—such as American Steel, General Steel and A.O. Smith—has closed.

"When people are laid off, the state gets less money in income tax and the district gets less money from Illinois in aid. In the last year, the state has postponed making a payment to the district.

"When people are laid off, they go elsewhere to work and the number of children in school decreases.

"As the number of students decreases, the amount of money the state gives us to operate also decreases. It becomes a vicious spiral. Loss of income is reflected in our enrollment drop from 14,750 in 1971 to 9,500 in 1983," the superintendent related.

"In the late 1960s, state and regional authorities predicted a rosy economy and growth in Granite City to the extent that in 1983 the school district would have 23,000 students.

"The number of students in high school at that time demanded additional space. As a result, North High School and other schools were built.

"The demand for space has not kept up with the space available. Only 59 percent of the available classroom space is being used to teach students. This is similar to a plant operating at 59 percent capacity.

"Management of the district has determined that the district must borrow approximately $7.7 million to keep afloat in 1982-83. The teachers' union says less. The large international auditing firm, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., has been consulted in regard to the budget.

"All parties agree that a large amount of money must be borrowed. At this time in 1982, we had not borrowed any money; at the present time in 1983, we have already borrowed $3,150,000.

"The board must state that by using their method the cost of salaries and fringe benefits in 1981-82 was $20,137,052. The true fact is the salaries and benefits were $21,136,778. They are in error $999,726.

"Next, the AFT assumed that all expenses including salaries have only increased 8 1/2 percent. They failed to take into account the incremental raises of over $200,000 for years of service, the additional pay raises because of advanced hours and degrees earned, or job reclassifications. There also are other expenses that we know will be higher than a 9 1/2 percent increase.

"On the income side, an AFT assumption was made that the district will receive $288,669 in additional corporate tax revenues. The budget specifically states that, if the tax protests are disallowed, the district will receive this money. As of this date, we are not aware of a date set for this court case, and it is questionable projected income this school year.

"It is a sign of prudent management when you reduce your expenses as you discover your estimated income will be lower.

"We are going to keep the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic to provide the basis for a college education and job skills for our children.

"We must balance our budget as soon as practicable to hold our credit. We must bring our expenses in line with income, and hold our borrowing to a reasonable level."

zoning variance that I had allegedly been bribed to vote for."

Greathouse has not been charged; he indicated he was referring to verbal allegations.

The MESD president continued, "My wife, my family, have literally been tortured by the state's attorney of Madison County. He knows I didn't vote for the zoning ordinance. He does not believe I took a bribe.

"He knows that under my chairmanship the levy rate, which had been a debt-ridden sewer—is now a financially sound model for good government.

"The man who allegedly bribed me, who has been given immunity—the one who couldn't cover his way into zoning variance—is a Republican just like Weber.

"I can only assume that Weber's motivation in dragging my name through the mud is political. At least, I hope it is.

"I would hate to think he has caused me and my family such heartache out of stupidity.

"During World War II, I walked the way across Europe, doing my part to protect the American way of life. Even though I was wounded four times, the Nazis were unable to make me bow down, and I will not bend my knee to a tyrant now. Weber can take his deal and..."

Greathouse is a longtime Democrat and his attorney is the 21st Illinois Congressional District's state Democratic committeeman, Barton. Madison County supervisor of assessments, also is a Democrat.

Weber has indicated the indictment requests will involve charges of bribery and conspiracy to commit bribery. Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, has been granted immunity from prosecution.

Barton was indicted in November and a third charge of official misconduct was added in December.

The prosecutor has provided members of the County Board with copies of an article quoting Barton as saying, in effect, that "money opens doors." Jack Frandsen of the County Board said he is offended by Barton's philosophy and wants him out of his county job even if exonerated.

Greathouse emphasizes that both of the lie tests he took were voluntary. He passed one given by a private operator, and says a test by a state employee was conducted in a confusing way that misrepresents the test's nature.

Such tests generally are not admissible as evidence, but Weber has called attention to the state test report.

Principals evidence to grand jurors may be Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation interviews that contend Greathouse wanted to profit if Nichols began selling dirt to owners of a lake area landfill. Rezoning would have been required in addition to MESD approval to cross a drainage ditch.

Greathouse and Barton deny wrongdoing. Barton's status may be debated at Wednesday's County Board meeting.

Baker is named SCA A Coach-of-the-Year

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Be proud Granite City. Not only is one of your high schools the reigning state soccer champion, but the coach of that team has been named the National Soccer Coaches Association of America High School Coach of the Year.

Granite City South soccer coach Gene C. Baker was bestowed the honor Saturday evening in Orlando, Florida.

Baker, 39, in his fourth year as coach of the Warriors, becomes the ninth high school honoree named to the elite group.

The award, co-sponsored by Metropolitan Life Insurance and NSCAA, has been presented annually to college, junior college and high school coaches.

Baker joins such soccer coach greats as Southern Illinois University's Bob Guelker, Indiana's Jerry Yeagley, Pat McBride, who was coach at Meramec in 1977 when he won the award, and high school coach Bob Dolaske of Maine East (Des Plaines) III., as recipients of the award.

The honor is the latest of several awards for the Warrior helmsman. In November, just after his team won an unprecedented sixth Illinois state soccer championship, he was named Illinois high school soccer coach of the year. That, by the way, was the second time he received that honor. He was previously named coach Illinois Coach of the Year in 1976, the first year Granite City South won the championship.

The mantle of the fireplace in his home testifies to his success both as a coach and as an athlete. It is riddled with memorabilia and plaques from both his coaching and playing days.

Baker was one of six coaches representing high school coaches nominated for the award. Other high school candidates included Joe Cummings of Northborough, Maine, George Herrick of Vestal High School, New York, John Wilcher, of Mt. Lebanon High School, Penn., Robert Catapano of Raleigh, North Carolina and Cliff Draeger, of Saratoga, California.

Although Baker was a candidate for the honor, he hadn't planned on attending the banquet. That was until Friday afternoon when he received a phone call from Byron McKusick, chairman of high school coach of the year, inquiring whether he would attend the banquet.

"I wasn't planning to go," Baker said. "Frankly, I didn't want to ask the school district for the money, and besides my schedule at home was pretty tight."

Also, it was the third time Baker was nominated for the award. Twice he had been denied. Those other nominations had come in 1975 and 1979.

That might have been the case, but McKusick was "subtly emphatic" that Baker not miss this year. In essence, McKusick made it clear that Baker's third time would be a charm.

It's a good thing he attended. Not only was Baker named Coach-of-the-Year, but Metropolitan Life, also paid his plane fare as well as his hotel accommodations while there.

But that wasn't all. Not only did Baker make the trip for virtually nothing, but Metropolitan Life presented him with a $1,000 check benefiting the Warrior soccer team.

His success on the soccer field is not surprising when considering the man.

Baker has been called the players' coach on more than one occasion. His players respect and outright love for him is inspiring.

How does Baker command such respect?

It all boils down to his soccer theory. His theory, in which he has half a dozen set championships to testify to its effectiveness, revolves around a team effort attitude.

Not in the trite, overused sense of the word, rather in a sense of religion and gospel.

To Baker, attitude and effort involve a sense of camaraderie and mutual respect among his players. That camaraderie involves mental, social and disciplined efforts. If his athletes don't have those three qualities when he gets them, he makes sure they have it when he leaves them.

He teaches more than soccer — he teaches discipline, self and mutual respect both on and off the field.

He began playing soccer as young as five. In 1961, he graduated from CBC High School in St. Louis.

Later that year, the St. Engelbert Parish Saints won the Midwest soccer championship, the first of many soccer championships for Baker. He was a wing fullback for the Saints.

He attended Rockhurst College in Kansas City for more than a year at which time he transferred to St. Louis University. He played soccer for the Billikens until he graduated in February, 1965, with degrees in History and English.

He taught at Riverview Gardens High School for seven years, during which time he completed his masters degree in educational philosophy and psychology at the University of Missouri in St. Louis.

In between teaching and working on his masters, Baker found time to coach the Riverview High soccer team. In 1972, John Selmeyer, then Granite City High School's soccer coach, was finding it difficult to handle both his administrative duties and the soccer team. Selmeyer recommended that the School Board hire Baker as soccer coach. The rest is history.

Baker said he was eager to come to Granite City because of its community support for soccer. "The community support has been superb," Baker said Sunday afternoon.

One question still loomed over Baker.

His soccer coaching career in Granite City South has been record breaking. How long then will he continue coaching high school soccer before he becomes stagnant?

"I'm very content to stay in Granite City," Baker said. "However, I do think that I'd be rather plastic not to want to further my goals."

Besides, that's not was Baker preaches.

Baker will further his goals when the time is right. His ability to further his goals is what made him High School Coach-of-the-Year.

NATIONAL COACH. With other awards serving as a backdrop, Granite City South soccer coach Gene Baker holds the plaque honoring him as the National Soccer Coaches Association of America High School Coach of the Year.

Warriors pick up second win; edge Steelers 62-54

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY: Granite City South's basketball coach Don Deterding summed the statistics after Friday's 62-54 victory over cross-town rival Granite City North.

Deterding was looking for the one thing that boosted the Warriors past North in the statistically even contest.

If there was a single clear reason for South's victory, Deterding surmised, it was the Warriors' domination of the boards. The Warriors out rebounded the Steelers 38-24.

"The difference in the ballgame was the rebounds, otherwise, the game was nearly even," Deterding said.

South's Pat Linhart, who was the game's leading scorer with 26 points, also led South with 12 rebounds. Brian Pithers had eight rebounds, while John Linhart pulled down 10.

"I thought both teams played above their heads," he said. "If either of us had played as well against others as we did tonight against each other, we'd each have better records." Deterding said.

Friday's contest was a good, aggressive game. Each team's offense operated, as Deterding concluded, above expectations.

South completed 25 of its 48 attempted field goals for a 52 percentage, one of its most successful games of the year. Similarly, North completed 21 of 43 of its field goals for a 49 percentage, a better-than-usual Steeler performance also.

Similarly, the Warriors fared better at the charity stripe than usual. South sank 12 of 18 for 67 percent, while the Steelers shot 12 of 19 for 63 percent.

The reasons varied for the each teams improved play, or at least the coaches thought so.

Deterding said his team's improved performance was due to the traditional rivalry between North and South.

North's coach Bill Ohlendorf, on the other hand, said the improved shooting performance was due to the lack of each team's defense.

"I think each gave up too much on defense. I know we did," Ohlendorf said. "We didn't get 100 percent performance out there either tonight. South capitalized when they needed to."

True, South did capitalize on North's mistakes, but it wasn't easy.

In the early going, as both team's attempted to protect the inside, each permitted shots from the corner, which resulted in an early aerial show.

South's Paul Macios put the Warriors on the board first by sinking a shot from the right flank. Not to be outdone, North's Steve Trittichuh returned the favor 15 seconds later, sinking a similar jumper from the opposite corner.

Barry Grote's shot put South back on top 4-2 at the seven-minute mark, but Sam Tate fired right back with a jumper to knot it up.

Macios broke the tie with a jumper from the left corner, and then Grote, after stealing a pass intended for Trittichuh, dashed the length of the floor sinking the lay up and the follow-up free throw which suddenly moved the Warriors on top 9-4.

South moved up by seven when Pat Linhart connected on a bank shot, 11-4. At that point, things started looking bad for the Steelers.

North, however, wasted little time in raising the Warrior lead as Daren DePew, Scott Cant and Brian Levin each contributed to move North back into contention, 11-10.

On two occasions during the course of the game, the Steelers fell six, seven, and eight points behind. And in nearly each case, just when it appeared South was beginning to establish a lead, North battled back.

South ended the first quarter with a four-point, 19-15 lead. John Linhart reentered the game in the second stanza, after losing a contact in the waning seconds of the first quarter, to increase the Warriors' lead to six, 21-15.

Trailing by six points, North mounted one of its combats. Tate put the Steelers back on track by sinking both ends of a one-and-one free throw opportunity. Then DePew lofted in a beautiful shot from underneath to cut South's lead to two.

Trittichuh scored from the corner for the surging Steelers to tie the game at 21 with 5:45 remaining in the half. Tate gave North its first lead of the game at the 5:31 mark as he sank both ends of a one-and-one free throw attempt. But North's lead was short-lived as Grote reciprocated the act by connecting on two shots from the charity stripe as well.

Macios got back into the action as he banged one in from the corner to put South back on top. Then Pat Linhart moved the Warriors up by four as he banked one in following his own rebound.

The quarter ended with South holding on to the four-point lead it had at the end of the first quarter. The third quarter started off poorly for South.

Pithers, whom already had three fouls by halftime, started the third quarter by fouling Cant.

Cant cut South's lead by sinking two free throws, moving the Steelers to within two, 35-33.

Minutes later, Trittichuh managed to even the game at 39, but once again, North was able to match South but were unable to close. North's ability to tie but failure to surpass the Warriors troubled Ohlendorf.

"The kids played hard to make those comebacks and, then I guess, they lost their composure when the score got close," Ohlendorf said. "They need to get their composure. That'll come with experience."

South jumped back out front 47-43 with Pat Linhart's 20-foot jumper with just more than two minutes remaining. And then, Macios' steal and following basket boosted the Warriors up by six, 49-43.

Then, with 25 seconds remaining in the third quarter, Trittichuh fouled out. With Trittichuh's exit, also exiled much of North's hopes of a win.

Sophomore Jeff Gray played superbly in relief of Trittichuh, but Ever's absence was more than psychological as South jumped to an eight point lead by the end of the quarter, 55-45.

Scoring in the fourth quarter was a stalemate. Each team scored nine, but South's South went on to win by eight, 62-54.

The victory was South's second in 11 games. They had previously defeated only Roxana. Saturday, the following evening, the Warriors lost to Collinsville 70-53. Currently, South is 2-11.

Likewise, if North had won it too would have been only its second victory. North fell to Belhato Saturday 59-58 in overtime. The Steelers are 1-11.

South returns to action this Friday as they travel to Allon, while North competes in the Sparta Tournament.

Under the two school system

How many more opportunities? 80 percent more

Tonight's the night. Tonight, almost everyone concerned with the proposed consolidations of schools in Granite City District Nine are expected to crowd Memorial Auditorium on the p.m. hearing provides an opportunity for students, parents, faculty and staff to air their opinions about the district's current financial dilemma and, if they have them, to offer solutions for resolving the budget crunch.

The board, however, will not announce its solution for trimming the district's operating budget Monday night. That will come later in February.

At the top of the board's proposal for cutting the budget is the consolidation of high schools. According to the board's written proposal made public last month, the district can save $1.3 million annually by consolidating Granite City's two high schools.

Talk of consolidating the schools, and its effect on the students and quality of education, has been a major topic of discussion in Granite City for months. Almost everyone agrees if the high schools are halved, the number of club, band, and athletic opportunities would decrease proportionally.

Seemingly true. But, how many opportunities does the two high system provide? Better yet, how many opportunities

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

does the two-school system provide that a one-school system would not. Until now, no one knew for sure.

Those who grab for figures speculate, saying 100 percent more opportunities exist with two schools. That's a good estimate, but not totally accurate.

The question was one that Bryan Wilkinson, Granite City North's athletic director, thought important enough to find an answer.

By going through the 1972 and 1973 Granite City High School yearbooks (the most accurate accounts still available), Wilkinson discovered, for example, that an average of 12 athletes competed on Granite City's basketball team that year.

In comparison, under the two high school system, an average total of 25 athletes competed on both North and South's 1981 and 1982 basketball squads.

Those figures represent an increase of 100 percent in athletes and opportunities.

However, in another example, an average of 46 athletes were suited on Granite City's 1972 and 1973 football teams. In comparison, the 1981 and 1982 football teams at both North and South averaged a total of 71. That figures to only 65 percent more athletes competing in 1981-82 than 1972-73.

When averaging the increased number of participants on all the athletic teams, then and now, one number kept popping up. That number was 80. On the average, there are 80 percent more opportunities under the two school system than there were with a single high school.

Both North and South High School campuses have similar curriculums. So, cutting those campuses in half, would seemingly cut those opportunities equally.

To the contrary, and the reason for only the 80 percent difference, is not all teams are filled to capacity. Although the difference in athletic opportunities between one and two-school systems is not 100 percent, the 80 percent figure is still noteworthy.

Said Wilkinson, "There's been so much talk going around about lost opportunities if consolidated, that I wanted to know what the actual figures were.

"I wanted to illustrate numerically how many more opportunities there are. The answer was there in the books, 80 percent," Wilkinson concluded.

Just a few notes on the subject. In 1973, North's first year, there were approximately 4,800 high school students in the district, 3,600 at North and 1,200 at South.

Today, estimates are considerably lower. There are 1,200 at North and 1,800 at South, totaling 3,000 students.

Using only the boys' athletic figures for comparison, since there were no girls' sports in 1972, there was an average of 207 varsity athletes at Granite City High School in 1972 and 1973 school years. In 1981-1982, under the two school system, there were 368 boy varsity athletes.

Using the above figures, in 1972-73 slightly more than four percent of the student body participated in varsity athletics. On the other hand, in 1981-82 under the two-school system, almost 11 percent of the student body at each North and South competed in varsity athletics.

It's true, the numbers reflect a declining total enrollment while the number of opportunities has remained relatively the same.

However, it is worth taking note.

Hungry Trojans avenge earlier loss; down Venice

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

DUPO — If the entire Madison Trojan basketball team was hungry for a victory over the Venice Red Devils, senior guard John Hughes was starving.

The Trojans wanted to win the Dupo Invitational Round Robin Tournament and to hand the Red Devils their first loss of the year. Most important, the Trojans wanted to revenge their 50-49 season-opening loss to Venice.

Hughes was hungrier than the other Trojans because he had to miss the first Madison-Venice game. His hunger spread to the other Trojans, and Madison topped Venice 68-59 Friday to win the tournament and to drop the Red Devils from the undefeated ranks.

"I really wanted to win this one badly," Hughes said. "I missed the first game, and I wanted to play hard to make up for not playing the first time."

Venice came out hard against the Trojans and led by eight at one time, but Madison's intensity was simply too much for the Red Devils, now 1-1 for the season.

Venice basketball coach Ken Perkins held a long discussion with the Devils after the Trojans put out the victory flame.

"We died in the fourth quarter," Perkins said. "We just lost the fire with four and a half minutes left in the game. I don't know what happened. We just died."

"It was a good old fashioned whipping," Perkins added.

At the game's start, Venice did the whipping. Venice forward Phillip White was open from the left side of the basket, and he was able to find the backdoor five times in the first quarter for 10 points. Venice led 10-0 by the end of the quarter.

Instead of Madison giving up, the Trojans outscored Venice 10-4 in the first four minutes of the second quarter to cut the Red Devils' margin to two, 22-20.

Already, signs to Venice's fire going out were evident. When picked up his third foul of the game with 2:30 left in the half. Ironically, Victor Valentine, who played a major factor in the fourth quarter, made his first free throws on that foul.

Venice held a 35-34 lead at halftime. The third quarter progressed like a typical Madison-Venice game, and the Red Devils managed to maintain a 51-49 lead at the end of the quarter.

The end was near for the Red Devils. Valentine made the first two of his six free throw attempts with 5:38 left in the game to give Madison a 54-53 lead. Michael Young picked up a Venice turnover and turned it into a basket. A minute later, Hughes scored to put Madison ahead 58-53.

Perkins called timeout immediately to try to stop Madison's pace, but the effort didn't do much good.

Venice tried to beat Madison's full court pressure after the throw in, but the Red Devils stepped on the line, giving the ball to Madison.

The Trojans gave the ball back to Venice, but the Red Devils' William Watts was called for traveling. Lefty Pryor then scored for the Trojans to increase the margin to seven.

Both Perkins and Madison coach Larry Graham agreed the first Venice turnover turned the momentum of the game around to the Trojans.

"One of our kids stepped out of bounds when we were starting to move the ball down the court, and that was a big turnover for us," Perkins said. Graham said, "When that kid stepped on the line, that was an important turnover because it put the momentum of the game in our favor."

In the game's first half, the Trojans made 8 of 11 free throws in the second quarter. Valentine was six-of-six, including four in the final minute of the game, and was two-for-two.

"Those are the kids we want shooting free throws for us because they are our best free throw shooters," Graham said.

Hughes, in particular, proved to be a major factor in the outcome. Hughes led all scorers with 20 points, but his biggest contribution was to the stability of the Trojan attack in the final quarter.

"In the first game, we had a few problems with loose balls in the late minutes of the game. With John in there, we know he's going to be able to handle the ball well in the pressure situations and get to the ball to the right people," Graham said.

The Trojans appreciated Hughes' efforts by lifting him up on their shoulders after he was named the tournament's most valuable player.

Graham also credited Madison's defense for the work it did in the fourth quarter. "We were keying more on (Eddie) Salmund in the fourth quarter, and we were able to get the ball. When they got behind, they were trying hard to get back, but it's harder to play when you're behind."

Three other Trojans scored in double figures. Pryor had 14, Valentine had 12, and Terry Hamilton added 10 points for the Trojans.

Salmund and White both scored 16 points for the Red Devils. No other Red Devil scored in double figures.

While Madison made 14 of 18 free throws in the game, the Red Devils made 15 of 21 attempts from the line. While Valentine and Hughes made their free throws, Watts and Salmund both missed one-and-one attempts within three seconds of each other with 1:05 left.

"I don't know what happened. We've been playing pretty sloppy. We missed some important one-and-one situations. Everyone just lost it at the same time," Perkins said.

"They wanted to win more than we wanted to win," he added.

Venice is off until Friday when they host Cardinal Ritter.

Madison, on the other hand, has a tough game Tuesday with Lovejoy at Madison. Lovejoy is led by 6-11 center Barry Sumpter, who has already signed a letter of intent with Louisville.

"I really don't think we're going to be cocky for Lovejoy. We know they're going to be tough," Graham said.

Trojans, Red Devils victorious in second round

DUPO — Both Madison and Venice were victorious in second round games in the Dupo Invitational Round Robin Tournament Thursday.

Madison defeated Dupo 87-47 and Venice defeated Valmeyer 66-32 and went into Friday's match-up with 2-0 tournament records. Both Dupo and Valmeyer were 0-2 after second round games.

Dupo once held a 15-14 lead in the first quarter, but Madison's pressure came around and allowed the Tigers to score only four points in the second quarter. At halftime, the Trojans led 39-19.

Madison assistant coach Dave Hodges took over the Trojans for head coach Larry Graham because Graham was ill.

Terry Hamilton led the Trojans with 17 points, Robert Hughes added 16 points, and Victor Valentine had 10 points for the Trojans. Hughes got everyone in the line-up against the Tigers.

Jeff Harres led Dupo with 19 points, and Robin Wilson added 10 points for the Tigers.

Venice also had an easy time with the Valmeyer Pirates. The Red Devils jumped to an 18-4 first quarter lead and cruised from that point on.

Eddie Salmund led the Red Devils with 16 points, and William Watts had 12 points for Venice. Like the Trojans, Venice coach Ken Perkins cleared the bench for a balanced scoring attack.

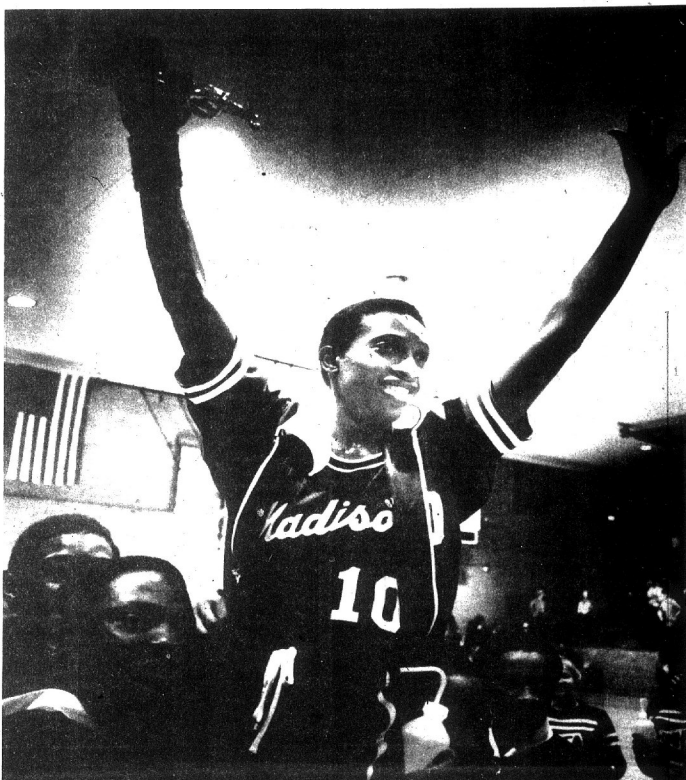

Jim Kaufmann scored 10 points for Valmeyer, the only Pirate to score in double figures.

Kahoks pick up 1,500 win, zap Warriors 70-53

By JIM SCHLUETER
for the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — Collinsville's 70-53 win over Granite City South Saturday night at Fletcher Gym may have lacked the excitement of Friday's 1,500th win at Alton, but Kahok Coach Gene Catalpa will take it.

His Kahoks, 10-5, have had few breathers this year, and it might be nice to relax once in a while.

"A lot of kids got to play quite a bit, and we like to do that," Catalpa said. "(Bill) Ohlendorf played quite well for us."

"When you come of an emotional game like that with overtime, 1,500 and all of that hoopla, it's natural to come out a little flat."

However, the Kahoks started the non-conference game red-hot and took a 12-0 lead over the hapless Warriors, who fell to 2-11. South lacked the size and quickness to deal with Collinsville's pressure defense, and they were never able to get within range after falling behind 20-9 after one quarter.

"Basically, we just weren't ready to play basketball. We were satisfied with the win last night (South beat Granite City North Friday) and we came out flat," South Coach Don Deterding said.

"Our little point guard (5-9 Barry Grote) just wasn't able to penetrate. Collinsville was so much bigger and played better position than what he was used to."

Deterding said the Kahoks appeared to be pumped up in their first home game after winning the 1,500th game in Collinsville basketball history.

In the Collinsville lockerroom, the Kahoks carved a large cake commemorating the milestone, and it seemed they had little trouble beating a team that upset them last year.

"They (the Warriors) haven't had too good of a year, and I think we've set the tone for the game early in the first half and early in the second half," Catalpa said.

Collinsville scored three straight buckets to open the second half to take a 46-24 lead, and the game was over.

The Kahoks did have some scary moments, such as Mike Hunter's ankle injury in the first quarter. The Kahok crowd was silent as Hunter lay on the court, but he was able to continue, and he went on to score 13 points and grabbed six rebounds.

Marc Parker, who was poked in the eye in the first quarter when he blocked a shot by Paul Maclos, scored 16 points, but Collinsville's leading scorer was Chris Origiasso, who used his 6-6 frame and good moves to score 17 points.

The other Kahok in double figures was Steve Giacoleto, who not only scored 10 points but pulled down a game-high 12 rebounds and grabbed six rebounds.

Pat Linhart, Grote and Brian Pithers all scored 10 for the Warriors, while Pithers grabbed 10 rebounds and John Hillmer had 6.

HOLE-IN-ONE

Jim Thomas of 6 Violet Ave. in Pontoon beach made a hole-in-one at the American Legion Golf course in Edwardsville last week. Jim used a No. eight iron on the 142 yard No. 71 hole. His wife Linda and Art and Mary Volvy of St. Louis were witnesses.

Eagles erase Steeler lead; win 59-58 in overtime

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

Winning a basketball game in high school is important, but "knowing how to win is big" too. So said Steeler coach Bill Ohlendorf after his team's disappointing one-point overtime defeat at the hands of Bethalto Saturday night, 59-58.

Coch Ohlendorf was speaking of that "something extra" that winners have found before and of which those accustomed to winning are unfamiliar: taking the ball to the hoop with authority; bringing the ball down on a pass, then going to the basket; reading the defense when the press is on in the final seconds of the game.

The Steelers are struggling this season, only winning one game thus far in the season. Having not had an excess of wins this year, the team didn't know what to do when victory was so close.

Granite North Steelers

The Steelers built up a 16-point lead in the third quarter, then watched it slip away when Bethalto switched defenses on an ineffective zone to an all-out-effective man-to-man.

"When they went man-to-man, we didn't execute," Ohlendorf said after the game. "You shouldn't ever lose a 16 point lead."

Near the end of the game the Steelers had several opportunities to put it away despite losing their commanding lead. Just under two minutes to play in regulation, Scott Cant, sophomore 6-foot-4 center, missed a crucial layup, spinning the ball off the glass and over the rim.

With seconds on the clock and the score tied, Cant took a high pass from Trittshuh, held it in the air a little too long, and was called for traveling, giving the Eagles the last shot of the opportunity.

The Steelers called time out and brought the ball up the court. Confusion broke out and junior guard Sam Tate lost his composure, firing a pass to a teammate that had already broken for the basket. The ball went out of bounds and hopes of pulling out the victory were shattered.

Ohlendorf was displeased with his team's second half defense. "We reached instead of moved," he said. "If you don't move your feet, nothing else moves."

Except the other team, that is. BETHALTO (59): Sherer 2-3-7, Weller 8-7-11, Kallal 3-0-1-8, Trittshuh 7-5-17, Tate 1-0-1-2, Cant 4-0-1-8, FG 21 FT 17-24 PF 18.

GRANITE CITY NORTH (58): DePew 4-2-3-10, Levin 6-7-10-19, Trittshuh 7-5-17, Tate 1-0-1-2, Cant 4-0-1-8, FG 22 FT 22 PF 22.

Leaner Warrior matmen fall to Maroons, now 9-6

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt has almost become a wrestling institution in the St. Louis area over the past 25 years. But as the economic times have become lean, so has his team's successes. The South Warriors were taken to the mats early by the Maroons of Belleville West Friday night in Belleville.

The first match of the evening was a tight one, pitting South's Jeff Cotler against Tim Allgire. Cotler lost the match to the experienced Allgire, 10-9.

After the near success of Cotler, the Warriors were taken to the mats early by the Maroons of Belleville West Friday night in Belleville.

At 155 pounds, Darrin Singleton was pinned by West's Bob Calhoun. Sean McGovern was out-pointed by Jim Dake, 12-2.

119 pounder Tom Sparks was pinned by Mickey Southland. West's Rick Blas pinned South's Jeff Hoesse in the most exciting matches of the day.

Granite South Warriors

At 185 pounds, the Mike Lester worried the coaches when he became incoherent on the mat in the second round. After looking carefully at his wrestler, Schmitt let the match continue.

In the third round, Lester again seemed to lose control, staggering off the mat. Schmitt pulled Lester, giving the default to Belleville's Bryan Miller.

The most exciting match of the evening was the heavyweight division. West's Bryan Miller came out of the blocks hard, surprising South's Paul Hitchcock. It looked as though Hitchcock had bit the dust. A pin seemed definite, but Hitchcock had other ideas.

Tracy McElroy won the first match for South, taking fellow-145 pounder Mike Mueller by points, 12-4.

At 155 pounds, South's Henry Brown overcame an 11-6 deficit at the end of the second round to win a draw from Belleville's Dan Self.

Jon Frangulis, highly rated 167 pounder, pinned Maroon Devon Bingheim in one of the most exciting matches of the day.

Warrior Darrin Husty and South's Jeff Kraus was pinned by 138 pounder Kurt Stamp.

With the score 37-0 in favor of Belleville West, and hopes of a team victory dashed, the Warriors were now wrestling for individual pride.

Tracy McElroy won the first match for South, taking fellow-145 pounder Mike Mueller by points, 12-4.

Trojanettes toughen up at Beaumont's expense

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

MADISON — After the Madison Trojanettes lost to Bunker Hill in the first round of the Class A girls basketball sectional last March, Madison coach Carol Cole found she had a mission to accomplish.

Cole wanted to make the Trojanettes schedule much tougher than it was so that Madison can compete with the better Class A teams every year.

If Madison's game Thursday with Beaumont (St. Louis) was any indication, Cole accomplished at least the first goal. Madison edged Beaumont 58-52 in a non-conference game.

"We're not used to playing physical teams like Beaumont, but this is the kind of competition we need to have. If you just stand and shoot like we did against Wood River, you're not going to learn much," Cole said.

"We wanted much better competition this year, and we're getting it. Beaumont's 1,000 percent better than last year," she said.

Although Madison's press "had its moments of glory," the Trojanette's free throw shooting increased their record to 3-1.

The Trojanettes made 14 out of 21 free throw attempts for 67 percent. In girls basketball, every free throw counts.

Madison was ahead 26-22 at halftime, and the only reason they were ahead was because Madison was 6-6-6 from the line.

The third quarter was confusing to say the least. The scoreboard operator couldn't decide what the score was, leaving Cole and Madison fans wondering what the score really was.

Even Beaumont was confused. Beaumont's Harriet Bost scored a basket for the Trojanettes with 5:44 left in the third quarter. By the end of the quarter Madison was ahead 40-32.

Madison Trojanettes

Beaumont didn't give up, and with 30 seconds left in the game, Madison held a slim three point lead, 53-50. Madison's ReCina Banks scored with 14 seconds left to widen the lead, and Beaumont immediately called its fifth time out.

Sherly Keys of Beaumont scored to cut the lead, but not the second, but the Trojan's Stephanie Walker scored on the rebound as time was running out.

Walker led the Trojanettes with 21 points, and Banks added 14 points. Lavette Tolliver scored 19 for Beaumont, and Thomas added 12 points.

Steeler grapplers win two 'uneventful' matches

CARBONDALE — Granite City North's wrestling team didn't do anything earth-shattering at Carbondale Saturday, but North came home with two more dual meet victories.

The Steelers increased their record to 16-0 with a 54-12 win over Centralia and a 45-16 win over Cahokia in a double-dual meet.

"It was a uneventful meet," North coach Walt Whitaker said. "Both teams weren't outstanding. In all, it was pretty uneventful."

Nonetheless, Whitaker is still pleased with the progress North has made this season. Colin Davis, Rod Unger, Bruce Widel and John Morris are all undefeated this season.

Against the Orphans, Davis, at 105, pinned Rod Thomas in 1:40. Greg Nemeth pinned Nick Freeman in 2:40 in the 112 match, and Brent McKenney pinned Todd Bohlin in 2:35 in the 119 match.

Granite North Steelers

was even less eventful than the Centralia match. Davis, Unger, Kessler, Widel, Zimmer, Morris and Kramer all won on forfeits.

McKenney beat Larry Long 11-8 for North's only non-forfeit win against Carbondale.

Man lost to Eric Welher 8-0, Nemeth lost to Scott Grammer 4-3, Whitaker was pinned by Matt Leming in 3:35, and Patterson lost to Tim Brown 9-3.

North, which has now won 36 straight dual matches since the start of the 1981-82 season, wrestles at Belleville Althoff in a Gateway East Conference match (Monday) at 6:30.

"This is an important match for us because it will go a long way in determining who will win the conference," Whitaker said. "We'll have two more tough ones after that with Cahokia and South."

The Steelers wrestle in the Wentzville tournament Saturday at 11 a.m.

Arrest clears 27 GC burglaries

Jewelry items, cash and video games were the targets of a youthful burglar whose arrest, announced last week, enabled Granite City police to clear a total of 27 local burglaries.

A combined effort by all members of the Granite City Police Department led to the arrest of Robert James Paulin, 19, of 4810 Kirkpatrick Homes, according to Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer, who praised the work of department members, including uniformed officers and detectives.

Paulin was taken into custody at his apartment earlier this month. He was placed in a lineup and identified by a witness to one of the burglaries, it was learned. In an appearance last week in the Granite City court, Paulin pleaded innocent to a charge of residential burglary.

Bond was set at $20,000 and a mittimus was issued. He was transferred to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

After being interviewed by a Granite City detective and traveling to the scene of several burglaries to which it was believed he was linked, Paulin allegedly admitted being involved in 18 burglaries reported between Oct. 5, 1982, and the first week in January, 1983.

Paulin and the detective then returned to police headquarters and went through other information cards related to unsolved burglaries. At that point, Paulin allegedly recalled various details in nine additional burglaries.

A single felony charge of residential burglary was filed against Paulin in connection with a burglary of the home of Debra Hannan, 2535 E. 27th St., on Nov. 18.

If he is convicted, the charge carries a mandatory sentence of four years in prison. According to Detective Craig Nann, probation may be granted a person convicted on a burglary charge without the residential definition.

Paulin apparently came here from Arizona in September to live with a relative. He had been spotted in alleys on previous occasions, but nothing was ever found in his possession and, when interviewed by officers, he would say nothing, it was alleged.

"He hadn't a car and during October and early November he traveled around on a bicycle. Later, he was on foot, which limited the area in which he (allegedly) operated," a department spokesman advised.

Frequently, the youth knocked on the door of a residence and, if someone answered, he would offer a name and inquire if the party lived there or ask if he could do yard work, police said. Should no one answer, he allegedly went to the rear of the dwelling and kicked or forced open a door, it was learned.

In many of the burglaries attributed to Paulin, jewelry items were taken, most of which he threw away, he is reported to have told officers. Frequently, he dumped the jewelry in black plastic trash bags, which residents had placed in the alleys ready for pickup and where the items wouldn't be exposed to a casual passer-by, police alleged.

Other property, such as video games or stereos, he sold to unknown individuals, officials contended, adding that he was mainly after cash, a police spokesman noted.

Found in a bedroom at Paulin's home were items linking him to one of the victims, it was learned. None of the other items taken in any of the burglaries was recovered.

At the Hannan resident, a box of assorted jewelry, a camera and watches were among the items reported missing.

Residents whose homes Paulin allegedly burglarized were notified this week. However, some of the victims could not be contacted, it was learned.

Burglaries and attempted burglaries cleared by the arrest include those reported at the homes of:

News notes

Illinois legislators have elected Michael Madigan as House speaker, Lee Daniels as House minority leader, Philip J. Rock as Senate president and James Phillip as Senate minority leader. Democrats now control both houses of the General Assembly, and the House of Representatives completed its reduction from 177 to 118 members.

An Alton man, 21, claiming he was raped July 16, 21, 24 and 25, 1981, by other inmates in the Madison County jail, filed a damage suit last week against the county, Sheriff Emil Toffant and Jail Supt. Jack Fields. One prisoner was sentenced to 12 years and another to six years for deviate sexual assault.

Mrs. Marilyn J. Richey of Edwardsville, daughter of the late Probate Clerk Dale Hill of Madison, was named Thursday as chief deputy St. Clair County Assessor Sam Flood. She currently is chief deputy in the Madison County assessment office.

When Circuit Judge Victor

Mosele was seeking retention in office and trying to show he was not "soft on crime," he should have delayed rather than sentencing a rape defendant to concurrent 45-year prison terms, the Fifth Appellate Court has ruled. Mosele lost the 1980 election. The appeals court views the rape penalty as harsh and has ordered resentencing.

Young men nationally have registered for a potential military draft at a 94 percent rate but the Illinois figure is 89.5 percent.

Most pension plans discriminate against women by paying them lower benefits than men (because women live longer). The Justice Department told the U.S. Supreme Court last week. The solicitor general said this is improper and should be equalized.

Physical Fitness is Johnson PTA program

"Pop Up Your Life" was the title of a film shown to the parents at the Johnson School PTA meeting, last week. The film explained that physical fitness should start early in a child's life and will usually become a part of the student's lifestyle as he grows older.

Dorothy Bailey, physical education teacher, invited several pre-school children to demonstrate how easy the exercises are to practice. She later distributed booklets showing pictures on how each exercise is to be demonstrated.

To open the session a flag ceremony was presented by Junior Girl Scout Troop 419 under the leadership of Jackie Sanderling. Scouts participating were Jill Robinson, Cathy Sanderling, Keri Smith, Sandy Stover and Amy Wigger.

Margie Love, Mary Jo Utz, Dan Grubs, Jim Seay and Evelyn Birkhead were appointed to serve on the nominating committee to select new officers for the forthcoming year.

Richard Brinkhoff, school principal, announced that 185 students took part in the "hoop shot" free throw contest sponsored by the Elks Lodge held in December. Prizes of $1 for each winner were presented by Willie Stover.

Those receiving awards in the eight and nine year old boys category were Lenny Weston, Kevin Sittin, Darrell Dockery, 10-11 year old boys, Leroy Sloan, Kirk Nussbaum, Larry Lunsford, 12-13 boys, Jody Crenshaw, Jeff Scholebo, Randy Odam. Girls eight and nine year for the year will be announced at the December meeting. The January selection involved a living creature. Mrs. McGinnis, a blind musician, entertained the group on both the piano and the organ.

A lunch was served to those named as well as Anna Austin, Loretta Siegel, Evelyn Warren, Frances David, Mary Hartman, Bea Black, Frank David, Howard Austin, Betty Ballentine, Helen DeChiara, and Elizabeth Novachich.

CWF project to aid flood victims

During the general meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church arrangements to provide flood victims with clothing, bedding and money were reviewed by committee chairmen.

The Social Action Task Force designated the second Sunday of each month as "Food Sunday," and members of the congregation are requested to assist with donations. Money will also be accepted to purchase new shoes and undergarments as well as paper items for the residents of the flood areas, the chairmen explained.

President Doris Edwards opened the meeting at 7:30 p.m. and announced the Ministers Luncheon, planned for Quad-City pastors, will be served tonight at the church and a birthday party at Colonial Haven Nursing Home is scheduled for Jan. 24.

After the business discussions a skit was presented on the life of Ruth, as the program for the evening.

The next meeting will convene on Feb. 3 at the church and hostesses will be members of the Dorcas Circle.

A dessert luncheon was served to 18 members by the Sarah Group during the social hour.

Venice among 19 applicants for enterprise zone status

The city of Venice is among 19 communities seeking designation as enterprise zones under the state's new economic development legislation, Governor James R. Thompson has announced.

Also among communities submitting applications prior to the Dec. 31, 1982, deadline was East St. Louis.

Other applicants include Chicago, which listed three separate areas, Rockford, Joliet, Canton, Harvey, Lebanon, Sullivan, Moline, Benton, Cairo-Mound City, Zion, Chicago Heights and Kankakee.

"The focus of the Enterprise Zone Act is to stimulate business development and job creation in depressed areas of Illinois. We want to move quickly in designating these areas in order to see the effects of the landmark legislation as early as possible," the governor said.

"We're very pleased with the interest in the act and the willingness of the communities in Illinois to work with the state," he said.

Under the provisions of Senate Bill 1299, which the governor signed Sept. 3, 1982, up to eight enterprise zones will be selected every year for up to six years.

A decision will be made by July 1 on which of the 19 applicants for this year's program will be designated, he said. Once designated, a zone may run for a term of up to 20 years.

"One interesting fact stands out in this list of communities," said Thompson. "All areas of the state are interested in the benefits that can be gained from this legislation. Small town, county and rural areas are as eager as big cities for this year's designation."

The Enterprise Zone Act is intended both to provide the financial incentives for business growth in the designated area and to prepare Illinois to receive federal incentives, if and when Congress acts on a similar measure.

The designated areas, which must be no smaller than half a square mile and no larger than 10 square miles, will be able to take advantage of several economic incentives, including:

— Permitting the localities to modify zoning, licensing and building codes.

— Providing a state investment tax credit of 5 percent of new investments.

— Providing for a state and local sales tax exemption on building materials used to expand or remodel property located in a zone.

— Earmarking $100 million in revenue bonds issued by Illinois Industrial Development Authority for use in enterprise zones.

— Permitting those who receive dividends from a corporation conducting business solely in a zone to make deductions on their state income tax.

Permitting loan institutions to deduct certain interest payments on their state tax and allowing exemptions from the state agency rules and regulations for businesses located in the zones.

"In general, in order to be eligible for enterprise zone status, a locality must designate a particular area as economically depressed and then must design an economic development strategy to bolster that area," DCCA Director Peter B. Fox said.

DCCA has until May 1 to determine which applications qualify for final determination. The enterprise zone designations will be made by the end of the fiscal year — July 1, 1983, the director stated.

An evaluation system to rank each applicant has been established by DCCA. Up to 250 points will be awarded in each of four evaluation areas: community support, adequacy of planning, impact on community needs and organization and management. Final certification is subject to on-site inspection and interviews.

"I am looking forward to the DCCA decisions on this year's enterprise zone designations, because we are all eager to implement this unprecedented program," Thompson said.

"I'm confident that the incentives in the act will help spur economic growth in these areas and inspire further economic development in the rest of the state," the governor commented.

The Venice City Council unanimously adopted a resolution signifying the city's intent to apply for enterprise zone status at its Dec. 14 meeting, following a public hearing.

In the Venice application, it was noted that the city has been identified by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development as an economically-distressed community.

The population of Venice is shown as 3,460, based on the 1980 census figures, and its residents' median income is estimated at $5,200.

Local authorities believe the current unemployment rate in Venice is 25 percent and that the community has a good chance of being selected for enterprise zone status.

Venice is rather unique in this situation," Mayor Tyrone Echols said Tuesday night.

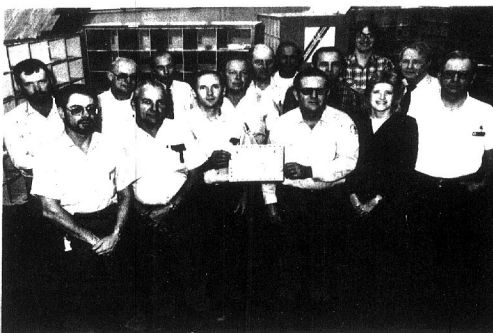

"We are seen to be sitting in the middle of a large metropolitan area. I don't believe even if East St. Louis gets an enterprise zone it should have any effect on Venice's situation," the mayor commented.

East St. Louis' application is designed around the establishment of an industrial corridor through that community, Mayor Echols said.

DAMAGE SIX TIRES

Mary Thebeau, 2656 E. 28th St., and Bert Harris, 3945 Village Lane, reported last week that three tires on their respective vehicles were cut or punctured. Both autos were in a parking area at the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave., when the vandalism occurred. A man with long, dark hair was seen outside the tavern earlier, police learned.

Crossing lights blamed in crash

Warning lights at the Edwardsville Road rail crossing south of 20th Street apparently were not operating last week prior to trains' actual entry onto the crossing, police determined in a test after a collision.

The crash damaged the right side of the eastbound auto of Michael Dawkins, 36, Capeville, who was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with minor injuries, and the front of a northbound Termini Railroad Association engine operated by Russell Kuhn, Bridgeton, Mo.

After receiving a report from a local store that a check had been returned from a bank marked "insufficient funds," an employee of the Flower Gallery, 415 Twenty-First St., discovered three blank checks were missing from a checkbook.

Notifying the bank to stop payment, the firm was advised that two of the checks, amounting to $145.53 and $13.40, had been cashed on Jan. 6, the employee told police last week.

head at door

James Parrott, 2905 E. 24th St., suffered a severe laceration and several abrasions to his head when struck by someone at the front door to his home at 8:20 p.m. Saturday.

Responding to a call, an officer went to the house and found Parrott bleeding profusely from his head. An ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Parrott said someone knocked at the door and upon opening it, he was hit on the head. A meat cleaver, recovered by an officer near the front steps at the Parrott home, may have been the weapon, it was theorized.

Foil robber
in two tries

A Granite City woman foil an attempt to rob her of a purse in the National Food Store parking area, Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue, at 7:10 p.m. Friday, and about 30 minutes later a man walking at 21st Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, also thwarted an attempted robbery, it was reported.

A suspect was taken into custody following the later incident and appeared in a lineup. He is believed to be the culprit in both attempted robberies.

Detectives are applying today for charges in information documents through the Madison County state's attorney's office, it was learned.

In the initial incident, officers went to National Food Store, where a woman reported a slim blond youth, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, wearing a blue knitted cap, a dark blue jacket and jeans, walked up while she was putting groceries into her auto.

The youth was holding an open knife and said that he wasn't going to hurt her, but that he wanted her purse. He related that he was committing the act on a "dare."

The victim replied, "No. You're not getting my purse," and ran toward Nameoki Road. The incident occurred on the east side of the store building, near Nameoki Road.

At the same time, the woman's 12-year-old son ran into the store and told the manager that his mother was being held up by a man with a knife.

While police were being called, an employee and the boy went back outside, but the man had fled. A check of the area by officers failed to locate the robber.

Officers were called at 7:40 p.m. Friday to the vicinity of the Country Companies Insurance office, 21st Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, on a report that a youth was hassling an older man.

The man told police he was walking west on 21st Street when a youth approached, told him to just keep walking and said he wanted his money. The victim pulled some change out of his pocket, but the youth replied that wasn't what he wanted, but that he wanted paper money.

At that point, the man dropped the change on the ground and ran to the insurance company's office for help. The robber fled north on Grand Avenue. No weapon was displayed in the latter attempt.

A few minutes later, a Granite City officer located a 17-year-old youth, who reportedly was identified by the male victim. Shortly afterward, the same youth was picked out of a lineup at police headquarters by the woman victim.

Plans were finalized for a potluck luncheon on Thursday, Jan. 20, at 1:30 p.m. and reports were given by Elizabeth McCoy, secretary and Marie Stanek, treasurer.

President Juanita Crawley opened the session with The Lord's Prayer followed by all giving the pledge to the flag.

Birthday honors went to Tom Crawley, Lucille Pierce, Vi Scrivner, Vickie Kent, Lottie Ostreich, Katherine Hinkley, Bonta Gibbs, Evelyn Stark and Rose Mary Beyer.

After the meeting refreshments were served and games played. Winners for the day included Rose May Breyer, Jean Uherik, Mae Stanek, Martin Schulte, Alice Cruse, Georgia Butler, Elizabeth McCoy, Filomena Gruber, Katie Colligan and Evelyn Morgan.

home, I was cast in 'Starsky and Hutch.'

"So I decided to stay on in Hollywood."

"After I made that decision, I wondered whether it had been the right one, because I was given such a trying, unsatisfactory part."

After "Starsky and Hutch," though, he was cast in "10" as Bo Derek's dentist father.

He loved the role, the picture and working for Blake Edwards, who is his wife's cousin, who wasn't aware of the relationship and wasn't advised of it by his hiring.

Noble has just finished a role in "Airplane II: The Sequel" playing a priest who offers not comfort, but warnings:

"He goes around saying things like, 'We're all in deep, deep trouble here,'" Noble says.

"And it's possible that some priest may resent him, just as some governors don't like my character on 'Benson.'"

"I do seem to be playing parts that anger people."

"After '10,' I heard from several dentists."

That being the case,

Noble is asked, how he, a Hollywood actor, liked "S.O.B.," a movie made by his wife's cousin Blake which poked wild fun at the movie industry.

"I didn't see it," he confesses, "because I was warned that I might not like it."

"However, I think Hollywood deserves everything it gets."

"I love it. But in some ways it appalls me."

'Governor' has no political ambitions

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — "If I were really the governor, the governor of California, I know what I'd do first," says James Noble, the flaky governor on "Benson."

"The first thing I'd do would be to resign."

Unlike the addled executive he portrays in the ABC television comedy, Noble is a bright man with a fair grasp of politics who claims to vote "with enthusiasm" and who was invited to attend a 1981 governors' conference in New Jersey.

The invitation was issued by the governor of New Jersey, evidently a "Benson" fan. At the last minute, however, he must have had second thoughts because his secretary phoned Noble to suggest not that he stay away but that he keep a low profile.

"Because of the character I play, some of the governors had expressed concern about my coming," Noble says without rancor. "I assured the secretary that I wouldn't try to grab the spotlight. I hadn't planned to make a speech."

"I'd accepted the invitation only because I thought the conference would be interesting and great fun to observe."

Noble did attend the convocation and hopes he won a few new fans for his series. Though he doubts that any governors have intentionally made Gov. Eugene Gatling, his "Benson" character, their role model.

Unintentionally? On that, you get no comment from Noble.

Born in Dallas, Noble has enjoyed acting all of his life; yet upon finishing high school, he enrolled at North Texas A. & M. as an engineering student.

However he kept appearing in school plays until he finally recognized where his genuine interest lay. Switching to Southern Methodist University, he not only became a speech and drama major but looked good enough to be offered a seven-year contract by a Hollywood studio.

Noble declined it on the grounds that he still didn't know how to act.

During World War II, he served as an officer on a destroyer in the Pacific. Then, still not convinced that he knew how to act, he returned to SMU for another year before going to New York to try out what he'd learned.

Though he began working quickly and regularly, Noble's luck seemed to fail him when he tried Hollywood.

He'd once been offered a contract there, but when he finally made his move to the center of movie and television production, he couldn't get a job.

"I was up for a lot of things but wasn't cast," he recalls. "Finally, the day I'd bought my ticket to go

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — Thirty years ago LIONEL STANDER left Hollywood as a man of principle, a man who refused to be made a victim of the blacklisting that cut his career short. He went to New York and worked as a stock broker, then to Italy, where he starred in 50 films.

As every "Hart to Hart" fan knows, Lionel is back in Hollywood now as Max. He's been back in town six years, a move he only made when his wife convinced him he'd never be happy retiring to England as he had planned. Four years ago "Hart" came along.

"It's nice to be back," Lionel said. "It's the best time I ever had. It's also the longest I've ever worked on one character or show, although I did spend four years on FRED ALLEN's radio show before I came to California to make films."

After 55 years as an actor, Lionel says that "this show makes television a pleasure instead of a chore. I have no complaints and the utmost love and respect for ROBERT WAGNER and STEFANIE POWERS (who star)."

And he's living the good life with his wife (No. 6) and young daughter. "It's always great to have money," he chuckled. "When you're young for what it can buy and later to assuage an old man. I don't believe in going overboard. I've got a medium-size house, a medium-size pool and a medium-size sauna."

Throughout all the trials of the last three decades, Lionel has remained a person of his principles, though. The discussion of the blacklisting still makes him hot under the collar and his knowledge of current events and politics is awesome.

"Einstein said that no intellectual should cooperate with the people who were doing the blacklisting, the House Committee on Un-American Activities," Lionel recalled. "It was American fascism. They equated dissent with treason — and that's a typical fascist tactic."

"Now there's one issue that counts," he continued, "the extermination of the human race. It's all pretty insane. If you're going to have nuclear war, what other issue matters? "You can solve anything when you're alive. On this issue Hollywood — and the country — seem to have the right ideas."

Lionel Stander is now a contented man. He noted, "I'm getting offered other movies, but I don't have time. I've got the show and my family. It's all turned out pretty well."

ROBERT REDFORD took a vacation fit for some of the characters he has portrayed — he went mountain climbing in Nepal, home of Mount Everest. "Laverne & Shirley" co-star LESLIE EASTERBROOK will moonlight by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the Super Bowl on Jan. 30.

TED LANGE has found a new niche. He's directed his third episode of "The Love Boat," on which he stars as Isaac the bartender.

Production on the last episodes of "M-A-S-H" were held up by a fire on the outdoor set and a case of hepatitis suffered by co-star DAVID OGDEN STIERS. David was working half days as the show was finishing its run.

LANA TURNER's autobiography is selling out at the bookstores, and the star is telling friends she can hardly wait for a TV movie version being prepared by Warner Bros. Lana retained the right to choose the actress who will play her, part of a clause in the contract called "artistic control."

ROBERT BLAKE will play JIMMY HOFFA in an upcoming TV project entitled "Blood Feud," about the quarrels between the union leader and ROBERT F. KENNEDY, especially when the latter was attorney general.
